

About the Authors

Lawrence Dumisani Nyathi holds a BCom (Honours) degree in Economics and Master's degree in Economics, both from the Midlands State University. He also holds a Postgraduate Diploma in Education in Accounting and Economics from Lupane State University. Mr Nyathi is currently working as a Monitoring and Evaluation Economist in the Ministry of Industry and Commerce in Bulawayo, Zimbabwe. Contact: +263 773 078 864/ +263 719 078 864

Paul Nemashakwe is a lecturer in the Department of Business Management with the Catholic University of Zimbabwe, Bulawayo campus. His research areas include Afrocentric leadership and human capital development focusing on the SMEs. Email: paulnemashakwe@cuz.ac.zw

Dr Alice Zinyemba studied at the University of Waterloo and University of Alberta, both in Canada. She is a holder of a PhD from the University of Zimbabwe. Dr. A. Zinyemba is a distinguished Academician and Organisational Development Consultant.

Dr Samuel Gumbe is a product of the University of Zimbabwe (UZ) having been awarded all his three degrees; HBBS, MBA and PhD, by the UZ. His PhD thesis focuses on Corporate Entrepreneurship. His experience with entrepreneurship and SMEs dates back to 1988, hence his continued research in Entrepreneurship.

Tapiwa Musasa is a seasoned academician and lecturer with the Catholic University of Zimbabwe. Her areas of research interest include Gender and Development, Indigenous Knowledge systems, human rights, food security issues and disaster management among others. Tapiwa holds an MSc in Development Studies, BSc in Social Sciences, Diploma in Education and a Diploma in Personnel Management. She is currently studying for a PhD in Gender and Development with the Catholic University of Zimbabwe. Email: musasat366@gmail.com.

Blazio M. Manobo is a senior lecturer with the Catholic University of Zimbabwe. He specialises in Systematic Theology, Liberation Theology and Development. He has published several articles in Theology and Development.

Email: b.manobo@gmail.com/ bmanobo@cuz.ac.zw

Lucia Gunguwo is a lecturer and development specialist with the Midlands State University. Her research specialisation is in children's rights, monitoring and evaluation and disaster livelihoods management.

Deliah Jeranyama works with the Institute of Peace, Leadership and Governance at Africa University (AU), Mutare, Zimbabwe. Email: deliahjeranyama@gmail.com.

Nomalanga Mpfu – Hamadziripi works at the Teaching and Learning Institute, Marondera University of Agricultural Sciences and Technology (MUAST), Marondera, Zimbabwe. Email: nmhamadziripi@muast.ac.zw.

Professor Majahana John Lunga is a qualified high school teacher, a Cambridge University trained examiner, an English Language and Literature in English specialist, a professional English language editor, a lecturer, a published author and a literary critic with research interests in African Literature in general but African women's literature in particular. Professor Lunga is the author of one autobiographical novel, A Nightmare of Yesterday, two plays, The Great Pretender and Long Live His Excellency, and co-author of a short story anthology, The Star of the Show and Other Short Stories. In addition, Professor Lunga has published two books on literary criticism, An Exploration of African Feminism and An Evaluation of Soyinka's Texts, and several articles in peer-reviewed journals. Currently he is the Director of the Bulawayo campus of the Catholic University of Zimbabwe, where he also teaches English and Communication courses.